

Junior Credit Analyst

London / Hybrid

Up to £44,000

This is a fantastic opportunity to work with our client in the Credit and Political Risk team, assisting with tasks which support the team's analysis of international corporate, bank, real estate, sovereign, sub-sovereign and transactional credit risk. Our client is a leading, diversified specialty insurance and reinsurance company with offices in the UK, USA and Bermuda. They respond thoughtfully and creatively to find the best outcomes for their clients and business partners through carefully-tailored solutions. This is an outstanding opportunity and a great place to develop your career and offers an exciting and challenging environment where achievement is rewarded.

Key accountabilities:

Strategy and Planning

- Assists Credit Analyst Team Head with optimizing CPR portfolio and continual development of ESG strategy.

Policy, Process and Procedures

- Comply with Aspen's internal policies and external regulatory and statutory policies relevant to the role.
- Assist with complying with CPR credit and underwriting guidelines.

Environmental Awareness/Customer Focus

- Support Credit Analysts and Underwriters with timely feedback and response on their requests.
- Assist Credit Analyst Team Head with research tasks and assist with preparation of regular reports (as directed) on economic and market developments that may impact the portfolio.
- Attend and contribute towards the daily CPR meetings.

Technical Performance

- Assist with tasks, as directed, which relate to credit analysis (when Credit Analysts prepare their credit rating on the risk profiles of obligors, structures and transactions).
- Assist with researching and preparation of tasks when Credit Analysts prepare training and presentations covering credit issues and sector reviews which are ultimately delivered to the CPR team.
- Using Bloomberg financial information terminal to obtain a company's debt levels, share price and the latest financial news.

People Management

- Supports others in the team on tasks directed by the Credit Analyst Team Head, in order for the team to achieve their objectives.
- Highly organised, self-management, ability to ask questions and work to a deadline.

Knowledge And Experience

- Interested in business, finance, and insurance industry.
- Working in a team environment.
- Computer literate with the ability to learn new computer packages (e.g., Microsoft Teams, financial information gathering sources (e.g., Bloomberg)).

Other

Our client is committed to making their company a great place to work, where you're rewarded and recognised for your efforts. As well as your pay and discretionary performance related bonus, you'll also enjoy a huge range of benefits. There are plenty of options available with our exciting benefits package, designed for your health, your family and to help ensure that you enjoy the most from your lifestyle.

For more information and to apply, please email:

info@rv1group.com